Can't Cure Catarrh

Somach Dosing, Sprays and Bouches Have All Failed.

There is only one way to cure catarrh. Reach the raw, tender, inflamed membrane that is infected with catarrh germs, and destroy the germs. You can't reach the necks and tissues with liquid preparations—there is only one way—breathe the antiseptic germ killing air of HYOMEL (pronounced High-a-mel) directly over the infected spot.

HYOMEL contains no opium, cocaine or other harmful drugs. It is made of natural eucalyptus, thymol and other Listerian antiseptics. It is guaranteed to end the misery of catarrh, bronchitis, croup and bronchitis, or money back.

Ask R. L. Middleton about the HYOMEL outfit. He sells it for only $1.00 and guarantees it.

J. M. Wakefield, proprietor of the Armstrong House in Shelbyville, and one of the best known men in Central Kentucky, committed suicide with a pocket knife, cutting his throat. His health was supposed to have been the cause.

Dandruff and Itching Scalp Yield to Zemo Treatment.

Why should you continue to experience all the misery, greasy hair and itchy scalp that you can't get rid of by using the best of scalp treatments? It is because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not try a PROVEN REMEDY—One that will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life in this way. It will cure DANDRUFF AND ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO, a clear, refined, penetrating scalp tonic that goes right to the seat of the trouble and drives the germ life to the surface and destroys it.

A shampoo with ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC SOAP) and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and itching. It is so simple, and so effective, and so safe, that it will do it. It is a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it. Sold and endorsed by H. L. Perry's Drug store.

Get Busy

Said one little chick, with a funny little squint,

"I wish I could find a nice, fat worm."

Said another little chick, with a queer little stirp,

"I wish I could find a nice, fat bug."

Said a third little chick, with a strange little squeal,

"I wish I could find some nice, yellow meal."

"Look here," said the mother, from the green garden patch,

"If you want any breakfast you must get up and scratch."

Unable To Answer.

At the Courts a case concerning motor driving was being heard when the chauffeur declared that while driving at forty miles an hour he could, if necessary, pull up in ten or twelve feet. "Um," said the judge. Then the next witness, an expert, gave his evidence. Said his lordship: "If a motor car were traveling at forty miles an hour, and the brakes could be put on in such a manner as to stop it within ten or twelve feet, where would the driver go?" "Depends very much on the sort of life he'd been living," said the expert.

What Some Papers Say.

The Pensacola (Fla.) Metropolitan says: "Clark and Adams and Adams advocates will all be thoroughly united for the coming struggle—the greatest political conflict the world has ever known."

Dodge City, Kas.: "Champ Clark was endorsed for the nomination for President by a convention of this Congressional district. This district consists of thirty-two counties."

The New Orleans (La.) Item says: "Robert C. Wickliffe, one of the most popular of the Louisiana delegation to Washington, said: 'Champ Clark, the Mideast of the coming political revolution, seems destined from all present appearances to step as high as did James E. Bulke, forty years ago, in the chair of the White House.'"

Senator Graham, in the Cincinnati (O.) Leader, says: "I do believe that Champ Clark is the best man in the South."

The Sulphur (Okla.) Democrat says: "There is no doubt but that Champ Clark is the strongest man in the United States for the Presidency."

Not Known Here.

The following we clip from Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer. Inquiry fails to reveal any knowledge of either Pettus or Booth:

New York, November 18.—William B. Pettus, alias William Russell, counterfeiter and self-acclaimed murderer, was arrested today by Postoffice inspectors who charged him with having written letters demanding $200 under penalty of death, from Postmaster Edward M. Morgan. Pettus admitted his guilt, the inspectors say, declaring that he was starving, and needed "a big bunch of money to put me on easy street."

Pettus claimed Kentucky as his home. He said he was discharged on October 13 from the Ft. Leavenworth prison after serving a term for counterfeiting. Previous to his incarceration, he said, he had cut a white man's throat and decapitated a negro. This was at Richmond, Ky., he declared, and was done while out of his mind. He was locked up in an insane asylum for three months, recovered his reason, and was released. A letter from J. K. Booth, Richmond, Ky., was found in his pocket. Across the letter was scribbled Secretary Morton, White House, Washington, D. C.

Rev. D. H. Scanlon.

Rev. D. H. Scanlon, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, this city, has been in poor health for several months, with much doubt as to the cause of his trouble. He went to Lexington last week and after a thorough examination, his physician advised an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Scanlon joined her husband there on Sunday, and on Monday, at the Good Samaritan Hospital Dr. Barrow assisted by Dr. Scanlon, a brother of Rev. Scanlon, from North Carolina, performed the operation. The patient passed a restless night as was expected. Later, a telegram from Mrs. Scanlon to Mr. B. B. Burnam, announced that her husband was resting easily and with but little fear as to the outcome. Dr. Scanlon and his wife are very popular in Richmond and have a great many friends who extend their sympathy and anxiously await further news from the bedside of the patient.

Mr. R. B. Burnam who was in Bourbon county Sunday, having heard of the situation went at once to Lexington, to extend his sympathy and render whatever assistance might be in his power.

Lexington Opera House

Mikail Mordkin's All-Star Imperial Russian Ballet.

Mikail Mordkin's All-Star Imperial Russian Ballet, which will be seen at the Lexington Opera House, November 27th, 1911, is the greatest choreographic organization ever given leave of absence from the Imperial Opera House of St. Petersburg and Moscow. Although loath to lose the services of Russia's favorite dancers, the Imperial Government gave Impresario Max Rabinoff every aid in organizing this big company. "Their object," some observers say—"Nothing more or less than that of the press agent."

Indeed, Nicholas, Czar of all the Russians, is called by some the greatest of all that ever increased out of publicity. He deprives himself of the pleasure of seeing his greatest dancers for another whole season, and has permitted his court musicians, the Balalaika Orchestra, to cross the sea, in order that public opinion in America may be further favorably shaped. Last year's tremendous success of the Pavlova Mordkin Company set Americans to thinking. "If Russia can produce such art as this, surely the country cannot be as unenlightened as it is painted."

In appealing to American judgment, Russia chose a medium, too, which strikes not only intellectuals, but the good plain ordinary people as well. The highbrows flock to see the Mordkin company because the members represent the flower of Russian high art. Business men and others who would yawn their heads off at Grand Opera or an Ibsen drama, go to see the Opera House, because they thoroughly enjoy the marvelous dancing, movement, color and the exquisite music. At the Metropolitan Opera House, which engaged the Mordkin ballet for performances during December and January of this year, financiers and business men, whose boast it is that they go to the Metropolitan only to escort their wives and daughters, sit up and take careful notice when the Russians have crowded the house.

Everywhere the dancers appear, the spectators say to themselves: "Russia is the land of a great art." Under the spell of the dancing there fade away the old, old thoughts of Russia—volks, the knout and Siberian exile. Never before has Russia been so high in American esteem, and it is mostly because of the great art of Mordkin and his associates. This company carries its own special orchestra of fifty pieces. Prices range from One to Three Dollars. Orders sent to Manager Scott, will receive prompt attention.

Sullivan Was Right.

In the Third Railroad Commissioner's district, Green Garrett, Republican, was elected for the simple reason he had no opposition. The district gave about 1,000 Democratic majority, and if the Democrats in the district had shown confidence enough in their strength, some good Democrat would now have a nice, fat office. Hon. Jere Sullivan saw in the distance the Democratic landslide, and several times urged that a candidate be put in the field, but none could be induced to become a candidate, saying the Democrats had no chance to win. Judge Sullivan was right in his estimate of the outcome. Mr. Sullivan is a man after our own heart; he believes in fighting for every inch of ground. Fight for an inch and you will often win an ell.

A similar thing happened in the Second and Railroad district several years ago. Col. L. P. Tarleton was elected Railroad Commissioner four years ago in the Second district by having his name placed on the ballot after a nomination. The Republicans did not believe they had a chance to win, so they declined to put up a candidate. Colonel Tarleton thought he saw a chance to win, so he went on the ballot by petition and received a majority of the votes over his Democratic opponent.

Death of Creed Goff.

The death of Creed Fulton Goff occurred at his home, in this city, Friday, November 17th, 1911, about 11 o'clock. His death was not unexpected to his family and friends. He had been in poor health for a year or more. Several months ago, he went to Colorado, with the hope of being benefited. Ten days ago, a message from his physician announced that the end was near. His brother, Mr. Lee Goff, went at once and brought him home, arriving at midnight of the day he died. He was about thirty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and one child. Creed Goff was a companionable man, social in disposition and had many friends. He was a member of the well known firm of Goff Bros. of this city, and until a year ago when his health became poor, was an active and thrifty business man. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at a Methodist church by Elder C. W. Crutchfield, the pastor, thence his burial in the Richmond cemetery.

Inauguration.

Former Senator James B. McCreary will be inaugurated Governor of Kentucky, December 12th, and for the second time in his long career of public service will take up the duties of Chief Executive of Kentucky. His inauguration will be the most memorable in history of the State for more reasons than one. It will be the first Governor to be inaugurated at the new Capitol, and in all human probability will be the last Governor of Kentucky from the rapidly thinning ranks of the old Confederate soldiers. In former years, the inauguration of a Governor of Kentucky served as a reunion of Confederate soldiers, and it is more than probable that this occasion will serve as such an event. The white haired veterans of the great war will be in Frankfort on December 12 in great numbers, for every Confederate soldier who can carry a cane will be there on that day. The day of the inauguration will serve as one of festivity for Democrats this year. Although the occasion is yet nearly a month off, already preparations are being made for it. It is planned to have an inaugural parade this year unequalled in Frankfort's history. The oath of office will be administered at the new Capitol. A distinctive feature of the McCreary inauguration will be the body guard of the Governor elect. His carriage will be surrounded by the McCreary Guards, and not college men as was the case of Governor William four years ago. Instead of the college yell, there will be the rebel yell, and instead of flags of the American Republic.

A Bald-Headed Woman

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one a ray to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in the community, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soap or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Taken again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth in this community only at Rexall's. It is a fact that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. You will better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store.
